Dear Dr. Vrochides:

The American Board of Surgery (ABS) is pleased to inform you that you successfully completed the Surgery Qualifying Examination held on August 10, 2006. The enclosed score report and report explanation will provide you with information regarding your performance on the examination.

You are now admissible to the Surgery Certifying Examination (CE) as an active candidate for certification. The next step in the certification process is to schedule your Certifying Examination. A description of the process for CE site selection, assignment and registration is also enclosed. To select an upcoming exam site/date to take the CE, visit the My Records section of the ABS website, www.absurgery.org.

Candidates are offered five opportunities within a five-year period to pass the CE. You are admissible to the Certifying Examination through July 1, 2011. The QE score report may be helpful to you in your preparation for the CE.

Please keep us informed of any changes of address during the certification process. Once again, congratulations and best wishes for continued success toward your goal of ABS certification.

Sincerely yours,
